Sample-3:

Teaching is a noble profession which is performed by a responsible teacher to build a good character and inculcate moral virtues of the young generation. Only a teacher who leads a simple, pure and disciplined life can successfully do this and make them a civilized citizen. Besides, he remains young by mind, forgetting his own worries in the constant company of youngsters.

Sample-5:

As a social human being our daily life, movement, actions are interconnected with the existence of other social beings. Our basic needs such as food, clothing, residence and language depend on others in a society. A man without human society, grows like a primitive beast where a man from a civilized community always improvises his material and spiritual existence.
